Like A Velvet Glove Cast

Like a Velvet Glove Cast in Iron is a graphic novel by American cartoonist Daniel Clowes. The book follows a rather fantastic and paranoid plot, very different from the stark realism of Clowes' later more widely known Ghost World. It contains nightmarish imagery, including dismemberment, deformed people and animals, and sexual fetishism.

The protagonist, Clay Loudermilk, is searching for his estranged wife Barbara Allen. The name is no coincidence, and like the song from which it's taken, Like A Velvet Glove Cast In Iron is a tale of unrequited love and loss. Loudermilk's search takes him to a movie theatre where he views a strangely compelling S&M film starring a dominatrix who turns out to be his wife.

Like filmmaker David Lynch, Clowes is known for mixing elements of kitsch and the grotesque. Reflecting the cartoonist's interest in 1950s and 1960s TV, film, mainstream and underground comics, and Mad magazine, these elements surface in Clowes's 1990s work, especially his graphic novel Like a Velvet Glove Cast in Iron.
